All the girls out there are totally lying when they tell you that size does not matter. Want proof?
I am telling you this because it is the honest truth, look I should know, they say that it is all in the way you use it, not how big it is, well I got news for you all, that is pure lies.
I know from personal experience, I will tell you about a secret that Joey has made me promise to never ever tell anyone, but since he has not called me in three weeks after standing me up, I am going to break the promise and tell you how he went from having a tiny wang and in 4 months he is now about nine inches and get this, it is still getting bigger. He has been secretly taking grow pills from this site, copy and paste the address into your browser to see them. HAREK.COM
I found out when I was at his house, three fridays ago, we were getting ready to go to the mall, so while he was in the shower, I went in his room, sneeked under his bed and found a box with pill bottles in it, there was like 9 full bottles and 4 empty ones, all ordered from HAREK.COM I was laughing at first but then when he came in the room and caught me looking at them, he freaked out and made me sware to not ever tell anyone about them, especially girls from school or work that he has been dating for the past while, now that I think of it, he has been rather busy with all the popular girls around here, when just last year he was the shyest when it came to girls.
I just never put two and two together until he explained it all to me, I did see his prick and yes, it is huge, pronostar huge, the thickest and longest one I ever seen.

I know this sounds really shallow, but I am considering ordering 6 bottles from the website at HAREK.COM for you know who.. he does not have a myspace account, so he is not gonna see this. They guarentee that the pills will work on any man, or they give you your money back, living proof that they do work on any guy, seeing is believing. HAREK.COM

$1 Billions dollars was overpaid to IRS Last year!

Didn't itemize? You may have overpaid IRS

Every year, as many as 2 million people pay too much in taxes by taking the standard deduction. Are you one of them? Here's what to do.

If you took the standard deduction on your 2006 tax return, you may want to take another look. You might have cheated yourself out of some tax savings. In fact, you may even want to look at your 2005 and 2004 returns as well.

In the past, the General Accounting Office has found that filers who used the standard deduction instead of itemizing paid the Internal Revenue Service almost $1 billion more than they should have.

Taxpayers have a choice of which deduction method they use to reduce taxable income, standard or itemized. They may claim whichever amount is larger.

The standard deduction amount is established annually. It is based on a taxpayer's filing status and is listed on each of the individual tax-return forms -- 1040, 1040A and 1040EZ. This deduction generally is taken by taxpayers who don't have many expenses.

For your 2006 return, it is $10,300 for married couples filing jointly and $5,150 for singles and married taxpayers filing separately. It's $7,550 for heads of households.

For 2007, the standard deduction rises to $10,700 for married couples filing jointly and $5,350 for singles and married couples filing separately. It's $7,850 for heads of households.

- You can get the standard deductions and other tax adjustments for 2007 by calling EFSS
- Itemized deductions are calculated from allowable expenses that a taxpayer tracks throughout the tax year. They are reported on Schedule A, with some amounts limited by a filer's income. While it takes more work, itemizing taxpayers often find the effort pays for itself through a lower tax bill.

Itemizing filers, however, are consistently in the minority. Critics of the tax code say this is because many people choose to forgo savings for simplicity. Using the standard deduction, regardless of the tax costs, means they can end their annual tax involvement sooner.

Let Professionals Handle Your Business

Entertainers and Sports Figures need Professional Accounting by real Accountants

As one of the most skilled CPA's in the business R Byron Whitaker has amassed a wide variety of clientele.

EFSS has a vast understanding of the entertainment and sports industry. Our team of knowledgeable professionals has experience in a variety of sectors, ranging from recording and performing artists to producers, writers, composers and directors as well as several professional athletes and models. Regardless of the category you are in, our advisors and team are equipped to help you. We are familiar with the challenges and complexities you face as entertainers and athletes and are able to manage your financial and business life.

Our clients benefit from services such as:

*Accounting and Tax Service
*Business consulting and management
* Assistance with financial and tax aspects of contract negotiations
*Bill payment and cash management
*Administration of HR function including employee payroll and benefits for business and household employees.
*Estate and succession planning
*Financial management planning and reporting
*Insurance analysis (life and disability) and risk management (property and casualty)
As well as personal security issues
*Asset management and Investment monitoring
*Philanthropic planning and execution
*Trust planning and compliance services
*Trustee services
*Real estate consulting and implementation
*Wealth management

Tax Return Preparation & Audit Services

The entertainment professional is a business person. Just like any other business, you need to comply with accounting, tax or audit requirements. We provide tax return preparation and audits, as well other services, required to satisfy investors in your organization or the federal and state governments. If you have multi-state tax filing needs we can handle those activities for you.

Some of our clients have simple tax issues. Others have more complex matters to resolve. Regardless of your situation, we will take care of these issues so you can stay focused on the creative aspect of your art.

Examples of Deductible Items
Instruments, home rehearsal space, in-house recording studios or equipment, cell phones, web sites, computers, magazine subscriptions, association dues, uniforms, costumes, dry cleaning, hair styles, make-up, shoes, classes ... the list can be endless.

Many entertainers don't take advantage of the expenses they face. Every facet of your entertainment career should be tracked and applied to your income. Even if you have hit it big, why avoid legitimate expenses? Look at is this way. If you pay taxes at a 25% rate, each expense item you can claim is the same as buying that item with a 25% discount.
We will not work with clients who want to bend the rules, but we do want to teach clients to take full advantage of what they are legally entitled to deduct.

Tax Planning

Tax planning is a critical component of all businesses. Entertainers may be artists at heart but there is a business aspect to address. You cannot plan for last year's taxes in January. All you can do is look forward into the next year. If your tax planning needs are limited, we will let you know. But, if you have never sat down with a professional and let them question you, you may not know what financial opportunities you have been missing.

All Star Weekend!

Vegas was the Ultimate Bomb !!! I got a chance to network with so many people that I ran out of business cards. I am really excited about this year and helping with making businesses more profitable. I was amazed at how many people in the industry are not getting the proper tax assitance when it comes to filing. I am going to put it out there like this.

If you are currently working in the entertainment industry in any field give us a call. We will give you a no cost quote on your taxes and also a 20% discount due based on your business in the industry. If you have already filed this year it is not too late! We will review your return to verify if there are any credits that may have been missed by your tax preparer at no extra cost to you.

Tax Return Preparation & Audit Services

The entertainment professional is a business person. Just like any other business, you need to comply with accounting, tax or audit requirements. We provide tax return preparation and audits, as well other services, required to satisfy investors in your organization or the federal and state governments. If you have multi-state tax filing needs we can handle those activities for you.

Some of our clients have simple tax issues. Others have more complex matters to resolve. Regardless of your situation, we will take care of these issues so you can stay focused on the creative aspect of your art.

Examples of Deductible Items
Instruments, home rehearsal space, in-house recording studios or equipment, cell phones, web sites, computers, magazine subscriptions, association dues, uniforms, costumes, dry cleaning, hair styles, make-up, shoes, classes ... the list can be endless.

Many entertainers don't take advantage of the expenses they face. Every facet of your entertainment career should be tracked and applied to your income. Even if you have hit it big, why avoid legitimate expenses? Look at is this way. If you pay taxes at a 25% rate, each expense item you can claim is the same as buying that item with a 25% discount. We will not work with clients who want to bend the rules, but we do want to teach clients to take full advantage of what they are legally entitled to deduct.

Tax Planning

Tax planning is a critical component of all businesses. Entertainers may be artists at heart but there is a business aspect to address. You cannot plan for last year's taxes in January. All you can do is look forward into the next year. If your tax planning needs are limited, we will let you know. But, if you have never sat down with a professional and let them question you, you may not know what financial opportunities you have been missing.

Only work with Professionals when it comes to your Taxes

Economists at the U.S. Department of the Treasury estimate the amount refunded to individuals will be about $10 billion.

Here are a few frequently asked Tax questions.

What is the telephone tax refund?

Who is eligible to request the telephone tax refund?

If I don't have to file an income-tax return How do I get the telephone tax refund?

I am divorced with one dependent child. This year my ex-spouse will claim the child as an exemption. Does this mean I cannot qualify as head of household?

Must a partnership or corporation file a tax form even though it had no income for the year?

What expenses qualify for the education credits?

If I pay college tuition and fees with a scholarship, can I claim an education credit on Form 8863 for those payments?

I have a home office. Can I deduct expenses like mortgage, utilities, etc., but not deduct depreciation so that when I sell this house, the basis won't be affected?

I just started a small business and want to know if I have to file my income taxes quarterly or at the end of the year?

I made some miscellaneous money repairing radios and television sets last year. How do I report this income?

What should I do if I made a mistake on my federal return that I have already filed?

I received a refund that is more than I should have received because I've discovered I made a mistake on my return. I have not yet cashed this check. What should I do now?
